

Bachelor of Science in Nursing

School of Nursing, College of Arts and Sciences

Program of Study

The School of Nursing offers a Bachelor of Science in Nursing (BSN) degree for pre-licensure students, as well as for students licensed to practice professional nursing (RN) with the RN-BSN Completion Program. Pre-licensure students must complete all prerequisite courses before applying to the WIU School of Nursing.

Nurses are healthcare providers who are skilled in the care and nurturing of healthy and ill people. The American Nurses Association provides the following definition of nursing: "Nursing is the protection, promotion and optimization of health and abilities; prevention of illness and injury; alleviation of suffering through the diagnosis and treatment of human responses and advocacy in the care of individuals, families, communities and populations." (American Nurses Association [2010], Nursing's Social Policy Statement [3rd ed.], p. 3)

The baccalaureate generalist nurse is well-grounded in the arts, science and humanities; exercises appropriate clinical judgment; understands the reasoning behind policies and standards of professional nursing practice and accepts responsibility for continued development of the self and the discipline of nursing. Nurses are independent care providers licensed by the state of Illinois as registered nurses.

Faculty

Western's faculty members are dedicated educators, skilled in fostering active student participation. They are also active scholars engaged in numerous activities to promote the profession and practice of nursing. The faculty offer a broad range of competencies, thus providing excellent scope for students with different inclinations and talents. At the present time, there is one faculty member to every six students, and students are assigned faculty mentors.

Nursing Resource Center (NRC)

Nursing students can learn and practice nursing, health and physical assessment skills in the NRC using patient simulators. Faculty supervision is available to teach those skills and assist during practice.

Clinical Opportunities

Nursing majors will have the opportunity to practice nursing in a variety of healthcare settings with a variety of clients. Students practice in real-life settings with faculty supervision.

After College

There is a severe shortage of nurses in the United States and worldwide. The demand for more and better health care is greater now than any time in the past. There is a global nurse labor market that will continue to grow. Graduates can anticipate employment in a number of positions locally, in the state and nationwide. For those who have fluency in another language, there is the possibility of employment abroad. For those interested in the military, the Air Force, Army and Navy have excellent programs for nurses.

Graduate school allows nurses to practice at an advanced level, for example, as nurse practitioners, nurse educators or nurse administrators.
