Mission:
The WIU Teacher and Professional Education Programs empower candidates to become education practitioners who engage in informed action that is grounded in knowledge and reflection; who are deeply committed to the highest standards of professional practice; who are able to adapt to emerging social, economic, and cultural landscapes; who are skilled in the use of technological tools that promote teaching and learning and who are committed to empowering all learners.

Teacher Preparation Programs:
WIU offers 15 initial certification undergraduate programs and seven advanced certification programs. Teacher education programs in elementary/early childhood education, special education, bilingual education, and physical education are offered in the College of Education and Human Services. Candidates in secondary and selected K-12 areas complete majors offered by departments in WIU’s other three colleges. In fall 2008, 1,680 WIU students were education majors. WIU’s largest programs are Elementary Education, Special Education, Physical Education, Social Science/History, and English/Language Arts.

Student Characteristics:
WIU enrolls 12,510 students at two campuses (Macomb: 10,785 students and the Quad Cities: 1,360 students) and 1,030 extension students. In fall 2008, 18.2% of WIU students were freshmen, while 10.2% were transfers. The average ACT of regularly admitted freshmen was 21.2. Minority students make up 14.1% of WIU total enrollment.

Admissions Requirements:
Admission to Teacher Education Program: Candidates may apply for the Teacher Education Program (TEP) after completing 30 semester hours. TEP admission requires that candidates pass the Illinois Basic Skills Test; submit the first reflective paper; pass the Teacher Education Technology Competency Assessment; maintain a 2.5 cumulative and major GPA (2.75 cumulative and major GPA for Elementary/Early Childhood Education, Special Education and History); pass a portfolio requirement, where applicable; and receive a grade of “C” or better in English 180 and 280, Communications 241, and either Math 101, 102, 106, 123, 128, 129, 131, 133, 137, or Statistics 171. Candidates must also pass a criminal background check and all applicable registries and receive the recommendation of their major department.

Admission to Student Teaching: Candidates may study teach if they maintained the required major and cumulative GPA required for admission into TEP, receive a grade of “C” or better for professional education courses (EIS 201, EIS 301, EIS 302, EIS 401, and the special education required coursework), complete a TB skin test, pass the state content test, pass the state APT test, complete all pre-student teaching field experiences with a grade of C or above, complete all required program coursework with a grade of C or above, complete required English Language Learners modules, continue to exhibit acceptable dispositions, complete the Mandated Reporter Training, complete the Safety Training, and complete the portfolio requirements, where applicable. Candidates must also pass a criminal background check and all applicable registries and receive recommendation of their major department.

Accreditation:
WIU is accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools. Its teacher education unit (the University Teacher Education Committee) has been accredited by the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education since 1954 and most recently in 2003. Illinois State Board of Education approves WIU’s teacher education, school administration and school personnel programs.

Teacher Education Vision:
Our graduates will be empowered educational professionals deeply committed to continuous learning and the empowerment of all learners.

Best Practices:
WIU teacher education programs address institutional, state and national content and teaching standards. Candidates evidence those standards with a required teacher education work sample, and other unit-wide and programmatic assessments.

WIU offers the Reading Specialist Program that prepares current educators as effective reading teachers.

All four of WIU’s colleges work within a collaborative structure to improve the preparation of future teachers.

A offers a dual certificate program for future teachers who want to earn certification in Special Education and Elementary Education with only one extra semester of coursework.

WIU incorporates cutting-edge learning and teaching technologies in the preparation of its future teachers. The Technology Resource Center enables teacher education majors to check out computer and multimedia equipment for use in their courses and fieldwork.

WIU’s early childhood education program is designed to meet the early childhood special education approval requirements. All candidates completing this program receive approval.

WIU offers a program in bilingual education and/or English Second Language approval.

WIU accepts the Associate of Arts in Teaching (AAT) degrees in the high need areas of Special Education, Early Childhood Education, Science, and Math.

Our U.S. Department of Education-funded Project SABE (Successful Access to Bilingual Education) provides tuition support for prospective Bilingual teachers.

Notable Features and Accomplishments:
Western Illinois University is the only teacher preparation institution in Illinois selected to be a member of the Renaissance Group, a national partnership association of colleges and universities that prepares one in every ten new teachers.

Western Illinois University is the only Illinois institution to offer an Alternative Certification Program for Superintendents.

WIU has implemented an innovative clinical experience program that provides mentor teachers with targeted training and support that translates into a more rigorous, practice-based student teaching experience for our candidates and rigorous supervision by classroom teachers, district liaisons, and university supervision specialists.
