Excellence in Graduate Education at a High Quality, Affordable Institution

Western students have all the advantages of larger public universities—accomplished faculty, state-of-the-art technology and facilities and broad academic and extracurricular opportunities—but in a friendly, accessible atmosphere.

Western is the only university in the state to offer graduate students a Cost Guarantee program that guarantees the cost of tuition, fees and room and board over a four-year period.

Why Western?
- Experienced faculty promoting critical thinking, engaged learning, research and creativity in a challenging, supportive learning community.
- Variety of program locations including residential campus in Macomb, commuter campus in the Quad Cities, and extension and distance learning programs. Flexible schedule formats including weekend academy, evening courses, and online courses are available for those students who may be unable to attend traditional daytime classes.
- High academic standards maintained through a strong commitment to discipline-based accreditation and certification, where appropriate to the discipline.
- Dynamic campus life and outstanding cultural programs offered for those seeking to take advantage of the complete education experience.
- Outstanding Multicultural Center, providing a variety of multicultural services, including special facilities and programs to serve the unique needs of a diverse student population.

WIU Graduate Studies Enrollment*:
- Macomb graduate students 1,397
- Quad Cities graduate students 637
- Male 41% • Female 59%
- Eligible students granted graduate assistantships 473 or approximately 55%
- Students from Illinois as well as 38 other states and 65 nations are enrolled in graduate courses

*Fall 2011

Our Heritage:
WIU-Macomb opened its doors in September 1902 as a teacher-training school, eventually expanding into a comprehensive university with a variety of academic and extracurricular options.

WIU-Quad Cities, located in Moline, Illinois, is the public university of the Quad Cities metropolitan area. WIU-Quad Cities has provided educational opportunities to the region since 1912.
Graduate Student Research and Professional Development Fund
The WIU School of Graduate Studies strongly values professional development and research as important components of graduate study. This fund is designed to support research projects and presentations, scholarly activities and professional development opportunities. A minimum of $12,000—up to $500 per awardee—is available each academic year to degree-seeking graduate students. Applications and full guidelines are available at wiu.edu/grad/studentfund.

Libraries
• The Malpass Library is a gem of the campus with plenty of natural lighting and hundreds of indoor plants, creating an excellent environment for research, group and individual study, and collaborative learning. The six-level facility has hours convenient to students and faculty and offers a vast array of academic and research assistance.
• iPads, digital cameras and other technological devices can be checked out from the library’s Digital Commons, and the in-house coffee shop is available for those late-night study sessions.
• In addition to the main Malpass Library, there are three branch libraries in Macomb: Music Library (Sallee Hall), Physical Sciences Library (Currens Hall), Curriculum Library (Horrabin Hall).

University Technology
• WIU provides more than 1,800 computers for use in 42 labs, 43 teaching facilities and 20 computer resource centers throughout campus.
• Each student is provided a WIU e-mail account, space to create a personal home page, network attached data storage and access to mainframe services.
• Wireless access is available in all academic buildings and in public areas of residence halls.
• Internet access is available in all residence hall rooms including graduate and family housing.

Advancement Opportunities
Graduate students at WIU have unlimited opportunity to advance toward their goals through
• Professional development
• Academic publishing and scholarship
• Preparation for pursuing terminal degrees
• Close collaboration with faculty
• Leadership experience in departmental organizations

Our Mission
It is the primary goal of the School of Graduate Studies to facilitate, encourage, support and coordinate excellence in graduate education at Western Illinois University. To achieve this goal, the Graduate Council and the School of Graduate Studies, in concert with the provost, deans, department chairs, department graduate committee chairs and graduate faculty, oversee issues relating to policies, procedures and academic standards in graduate education.

What are Graduate Student Admission Requirements?
Individuals may apply to the School of Graduate Studies with any of the following objectives in mind:
1. Pursuing a graduate degree.
2. Enrolling in coursework for professional development as a non-degree seeking student.
3. Pursuing a second bachelor’s degree. Regardless of the objective, all applicants must meet the following admission requirements:
• Hold a baccalaureate degree from a regionally-accredited institution and provide the required official documentation of that degree, in most cases an official transcript showing highest degree earned.
• Complete and submit an online application to the School of Graduate Studies, which includes a $30 non-refundable application fee.

Individuals pursuing a graduate degree must meet additional requirements:
• Have a minimum cumulative undergraduate GPA of 2.75 based on all hours attempted at all institutions attended or undergraduate GPA of 3.0 based on last two years of undergraduate work. Some programs require higher GPA for admission. Check individual program requirements.
• Provide program specific admission materials such as goals statements (essays), letters of recommendation, resumes, entrance exams, etc. Check individual program admission requirements in the graduate catalog. You will find a link to the catalog at wiu.edu/grad.

How Long Does the Admissions Process Take?
As soon as your online application is received, our office will match it to any documents we have already received for you. Then we will notify you of what documents we have and what we are missing. This notification may be made in various forms to include email and postal service. For most programs the School of Graduate Studies collects all the documents and when all are received your file is sent to the academic department for review. The amount of time for a departmental decision to be made will depend on that department and whether other admission requirements such as interviews or auditions must be held. Once the School of Graduate Studies learns of an admission decision, you will be notified initially by email and then by letter via the postal service. The letter will include your advisor assignment.

Are There Deadlines?
The School of Graduate Studies accepts applications on a rolling basis. However, some departments admit for fall semester only and give priority consideration to applications received prior to Feb. 1. Contact individual departments to determine deadline dates.

Application for Admission
Opportunities for Minority Students
Financial assistance programs are available to students who are members of ethnic groups that have been traditionally underrepresented in higher education.

The Community
The University’s main residential campus is located 40 miles east of the Mississippi River. Macomb (population: 20,000) is a safe, friendly place to call home as you pursue graduate studies. In fact, Macomb was ranked among the “Top 100 Micropolitans” by bizjournal.com in a study on “America’s Dreamtowns.”

See For Yourself!
We’d love for you to schedule a visit, which will give you the chance to get a feel for campus. On the Macomb campus, you can also meet a current WIU student now serving as a Graduate Student Ambassador. Want to meet with an advisor in an academic department to discuss your program of interest? We can arrange that for you too!

Call (877) WIU-GRAD or email Grad-Office@wiu.edu.
Quad Cities Community

In the heart of the Midwest and located along the banks of the Mississippi River, the Quad Cities area offers students the chance to live and learn in an urban community. The Quad Cities area is home to more than 20,000 businesses, including John Deere World Headquarters, Alcoa, Kraft, Exelon, and the Rock Island Arsenal.

The community offers many opportunities for student involvement and internships, and many cultural, social, and athletic events and activities. The Quad Cities is accessible through a bi-state transportation network, and according to its Chamber of Commerce, the area is a preferred place for family living.

Advancement for QC Professionals

Western Illinois University-Quad Cities provides a high quality, affordable service as the only public university in the Quad Cities metropolitan area.

WIU-QC offers a first-rate education for transfer, nontraditional, graduate, and international students. Classes are scheduled with students’ needs in mind. WIU-QC offers reasonable in-state tuition rates to all students, whether they live in Illinois, Iowa, or beyond.

Quad Cities Programs

- 14 master’s degree programs
- 15 post-baccalaureate certificate programs
- 1 specialist degree
- 1 doctorate degree program

Campus Highlights

WIU celebrates its newest addition—the Western Illinois University Quad Cities Riverfront Campus opened for classes in January 2012. Located on the banks of the Mississippi River, and similar to our 60th Street location in Moline, IL, the new campus features state-of-the-art technology, teaching and learning environments.

Graduate Student Involvement

Graduate Student life at WIU-Quad Cities offers academic and social opportunities in the classroom and in the community. WIU-Quad Cities is a commuter campus, which means you live where you like and learn on campus.

WIU-Quad Cities professors are approachable and knowledgeable in their fields. Graduate students learn from experienced faculty, and gain practical experience and research opportunities that prepare you for career advancement and success.

Student Organizations

- Liberal Arts & Sciences Student Organization
- Graduate Experience in Museum Studies
- Aquaria, Biology, and Zoology Society
- Toastmasters
- Association of Latin American Students
- Interdisciplinary English and Arts Society

Student organizations are a great way to enhance your resume and gain experience in your field of study. Members of student organizations are involved in volunteerism, service, research, and social activities both on campus and in the Quad Cities community.

Online Degrees and Courses

The number of courses offered online varies by academic program. There are two degrees that can be completed entirely online if the appropriate coursework is completed. The master’s degree in IDT can be completed entirely online by working closely with the graduate committee chair on course selection. The master’s degree in elementary education can be completed in its entirety online by selecting either the literacy education or elementary curriculum specialization.

Several programs offer coursework at various off-campus sites in an evening or weekend format. Please refer to program descriptions in the graduate catalog for additional information.
